

Did You Know?

HTML Forms are used to collect user information like Name, Email, Password and Feedback. Almost every website uses HTML Forms.

What is an HTML Form?

An HTML Form is used to collect data from users. The collected information can be sent to a server for processing.

Basic Form Syntax

```
<form>
```

```
</form>
```

Common Form Elements

Element	Purpose
<code><form></code>	Create Form
<code><input></code>	Take User Input
<code><label></code>	Display Field Label
<code><textarea></code>	Multi-line Text
<code><select></code>	Dropdown List
<code><option></code>	Dropdown Option
<code><button></code>	Create Button

Common Input Types

- text
- password
- email
- number
- date
- radio
- checkbox
- file
- submit

Example Form

```
<form>
<label>Name</label>
```

```
<input type="text">

<label>Email</label>
<input type="email">

<label>Password</label>
<input type="password">

<input type="submit" value="Submit">
</form>
```

Advantages of HTML Forms

- Collect user information
- Create Login Pages
- Create Registration Forms
- Collect Feedback
- Easy to use

Common Mistakes

- Forgetting the name attribute
- Using wrong input type
- Missing label tags
- Not closing form properly

Interview Questions

Q1: What is an HTML Form?

An HTML Form is used to collect user data.

Q2: Which tag creates a form?

`<form>`

Q3: Which tag is used for user input?

`<input>`

Q4: Name four input types.

text, email, password, checkbox

Quick Revision

Form Tag: `<form>`

Input Tag: `<input>`

Used For: Collecting User Data

Popular Types: text, email, password, radio